

BNP PARIBAS DATA PRIVACY MANIFESTO

To our existing, past and future individual customers,

We, as a Group, strive to partner with you at all stages of your life by providing a wide range of solutions (financing, investment, savings, insurance, real estate...) and comprehensive financial advice.

Data is and has always been at the heart of our activities.

Our history and expertise, notably in assessing and managing risks, make us a reliable partner for the security and confidentiality of your data, that we protect the same way that we protect your assets.

In a digital era, processing the personal data you entrust us with is crucial to fulfil our duty to provide you with the best services and to help you make the best decisions.

Your trust being our most valuable asset, we do everything in our power to continue to deserve it.

We are transparent on how we use your data:

- We respect your choices when it comes to your personal data. For instance, you can always choose not to receive commercial solicitations
- We do not share your personal data outside the Group for commercial purposes. Yet, if you have solicited products or services from our carefully selected partners, then data transmission may occur and you will always be aware of such transmission
- We do not sell your personal data

We are committed to answering your questions in a clear, precise and rapid manner, so you can always stay in control.

Rest assured we respect the trust you place in us.
We care about your privacy!
